Chambersburg Crossing is a beautifully constructed, 273,104 square foot, community shopping center strategically located directly off Interstate 81 at the intersection of Norland Avenue and Walker Road in Chambersburg, Pennsylvania. The center is anchored by Giant Food, co-anchored by some of the nation's most powerful destination retailers including Kohl's, Michaels, Staples and PetSmart and shadow-anchored by a 127,307 square foot Target, the second largest discount retailer in the United States. The center also boasts a strong line-up of destination restaurants including Friday's, Chipotle, Red Robin, Subway and Panera Bread, and recently added a brand-new Mod Pizza. With extensive visibility and easy regional access from I-81 where over 42,000 vehicles pass the center daily, combined with a strong trade area of over 53,000 people with an average household income over $73,000 living within five miles of the property and approximately 90,700 people living within a 10 minute drive, Chambersburg Crossing is advantageously positioned as Chambersburg's primary regional shopping center.
